OUR ROOFS PROTECT WHAT MATTERS

It's easy to think of our homes as just buildings – some walls and a roof. But, in thinking more deeply about it, we realize that our homes are much more than just sticks, bricks, and nails. Our homes hold our memories, as well as our possessions. When we think back on some of the favorite times of our lives, it's impossible to do so without thinking about the building where those events take place.

Along with the memories, we have a lot of emotions in our homes. Emotions of happiness, sadness, joy, and hope all stay in our homes. For that reason, we want to see our homes stand strong and protected. Some people might say that they even become a metaphor for our lives. The idea of passing our homes down to future generations is even making a comeback in recent years. The future “old family homestead” may even be the home you just moved into a few years ago.

For these reasons, we do things to make our homes last – to keep them sturdy and strong and maintenance-free. We take steps to choose building materials that are durable, lasting, and inviting. In summary, we protect what matters. And, for virtually all of our homes, that starts with the roof.

PRODUCT BENEFITS

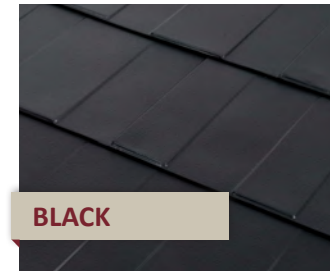

Sentry Steel Shingles have been carefully designed to weather whatever life – and Mother Nature – throws at them. They will protect and beautify your home far better than traditional roofing materials.

Sentry Shingles are produced from corrosion-resistant G90 galvanized steel that has been coated with the Kynar 500 or Hylar 5000 finish. The panels interlock on all sides for maximum wind resistance and, unlike most metal roofs, there are no concealed fasteners with problem-prone washers that crack and leak. They have been tested to withstand hurricane-force winds and the Lifetime / 40-Year Transferable warranty includes 120 mph wind protection.

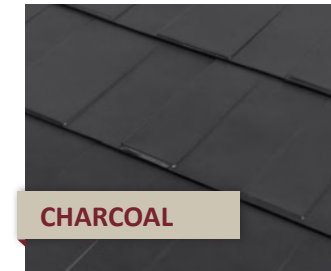

Available in many colors, the Kynar 500 or Hylar 5000 finish creates a tight molecular bond to protect and enhance the tough steel core. It carries a 30-year fade resistance warranty and is warranted against peeling, flaking, and chipping. These coatings have been chosen for their durability as well as their incredible track records of successful field exposure. Additionally, most of our colors have reflective pigments to meet Energy Star standards and keep your home cooler even in the hottest weather.

SENTRY SHINGLE | XT

Our XT shingle has the same design and features as the standard Sentry Shingle but it features an enhanced finish to help you create a variety of effects. The XT finish is a powder-applied Kynar coating that is molecularly bonded to the original Kynar 500 or Hylar 5000 finish. It creates a scratch-resistant and textured coating that is a blend of colors. We have several standard colors and create custom colors as well. The effect can be a roof that looks very natural and weathered. We can even apply the XT finish in “bursts,” allowing the base coat to show as well, for even more blending of colors and light and dark areas on your roof.

MEETS YOUR LIFESTYLE

Whether it's their durability or energy efficiency, Sentry Steel Shingles meet your lifestyle. They keep you from having to worry about roof maintenance and eventual replacement while saving energy. And, any home is enhanced by the look of Sentry Shingles. Their resistance to streaking and staining keeps them looking new – unlike other roofs which look old and in need of replacement within just a few years of installation.

The Lifetime Limited / 40-Year Transferable Warranty brings peace-of-mind and also additional value should you sell your home. And, unlike many metal roofs, the warranty transfers to all future owners during its duration, not just to the next owner.

Investing in Sentry Shingle is investing in your future. Protect what matters.
